'When you're a kid, you color with reckless abandon.
You color outside the lines. You color however you feel.
Blue elephants, purple trees, red bears, green oceans – it's all good.
As you get older, though, everyone tells you to stay inside the lines, to color everything just like you see it. You end up painting by numbers whether you actually paint or whether you write or sing or act or direct.
I think you should create what you feel. Create outside the lines.
I want to watch green oceans and red bears.
I'd love to listen to purple trees.
And I long to read blue elephants.'
